It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Inheritance Taxes

The revenue derived from collateral inheritance taxes during the last biennial period amounts to $221,493.77, which is an increase of substantially $50,000 over the last biennial period.

The statute imposing a direct inheritance tax has just become effective so far as producing revenue is concerned, and taxes to the amount of $2,702.97 have been collected.

Right of Appeal

I am convinced that the revenue of the State derived from inheritance tax sources is appreciably lessened by the allowance of unlawful claims against estates by commissioners appointed pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 148 G. L.

The allowance of these unlawful claims results from ignorance of the law rather than any intent to defraud the State. In the settlement of estates in an estate where it appears that any property or interest therein is, or may be, subject to an inheritance tax, the state should have a right of appeal from the decision and report of the commissioners when the sum allowed amounts to one hundred dollars; such appeal to be taken at any time prior to the allowance of the final account of the executor or administrator. No claim in excess of one hundred dollars allowed by commissioners should be paid by an executor or administrator without first having procured a waiver of the tax from the Commissioner of Taxes.

A bill along the above lines, containing other amendments necessary to carry the idea into effect, will be submitted to the next legislature.

Third Appraiser

The revenue of the State, is, in my opinion, also considerably lessened by reason of the undervaluation of the property of estates by appraisers appointed pursuant to the provisions of Section 6231 General Laws. The law should be so amended that whenever it appears that an estate, or any property or interest therein, is, or may be, subject to a tax imposed by Chapter 49 G. L. the probate court may at the time of the appointment of the appraisers, as provided by Section 6231 G. L., or at any time thereafter on its own motion, or, on motion of the Commissioner of Taxes, designate and appoint an additional third appraiser to represent the State. Such additional appraiser shall report the inventory and appraisal of such property with the appraisers; or, in case of failure to agree, in a separate report. He shall be entitled to the same compensation as the other appraisers, the same to be paid on the certificate of the judge of probate by the State Treasurer on the Auditor's order out of funds of the State received from inheritance tax sources. It should not be made a burden upon the estate.

This seems to me to be a more feasible plan than to designate three or more public appraisers in each probate district, one of whom shall be appointed to represent the State as a member of each board of appraisers.

Bequests to Foreign Corporations

In the construction of Sections 1090 and 1094 G. L. this Department has repeatedly and consistently ruled that the law exempting certain corporations and institutions from inheritance taxes does not contemplate or include corporations and institutions incorporated by or located in other states. This department has uniformly maintained that bequests to cities and towns in other states were taxable whether for cemeteries or any other public purposes, and that the exemption accorded by statute was accorded to domestic corporations, villages and associations, solely. It is a general rule of law that exemptions granted by states to corporations are confined to domestic corporations and must be held to apply only to corporations created under the authority of the state, unless the intent that such statutes shall apply to other than domestic corporations is plainly expressed. The legislature of this state is not to be assumed to have acted for, or, in the interest of corporations other than those of its own creation and within its control.

It is not the proper function of a state to go outside of its own limits and devote its resources to the support of religion, education, charity or missions for the benefit of mankind at large. The reason is to be found in the fact that the grant for the exemption of property from taxation is the benefit that accrues to the people of Vermont from the use of that which is exempted. Our Supreme Court in the case of In re Hickok Estate, 78 Vt., page 359 has held that "in absence of any language indicative of a different intent the legislature must be deemed to have made the exemption for the benefit of its own institutions."

Notwithstanding that in the opinion of the Commissioner of Taxes there can be no question that the exemption relates only to domestic corporations, and that in the absence of any language indicative of a different intent, the legislature must be deemed to have made the exemption for the benefit of its own institutions and it was not necessary for the legislature to specifically limit the exemption by the use of the words "within the State", since such limitation already exists as a general rule or construction of the law, and while to add the words "within this State" will make no change in the law as such words will be simply declaratory of the law as it is, yet, to save needless litigation and controversy I would recommend that Section 1090 of the General Laws be amended in line six by inserting after the word "town" the words "within this State"; and that Section 1094 be similarly amended.

Statute of Limitation

Because under the provisions of the inheritance tax law the tax is made a lien on all property subject to the tax until it is paid; administrators, executors and trustees are liable for the tax, with interest, until paid; the tax is a lien on legacies, distributive shares and the proceeds thereof until paid; and final settlement of the account of the administrator, executor or trustee cannot be allowed until the inheritance tax is paid; and for other reasons not necessary to be here set out I have ruled that the provisions of Chapter 95 of the General Laws relating to the limitation of time within which actions may be commenced do not apply to proceedings or actions taken to appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty prescribed by Chapter 49, relating to inheritances and taxable transfers. I recommend the passage of an affirmative statute along the line of this ruling, similar to that found in Section 245, Tax Laws of the State of New York, 1917.

Federal Estate Tax

In my last biennial report I called attention to the fact that the federal government had recently enacted a federal inheritance tax law which, strictly speaking, imposes not an inheritance tax but an estate tax.

Upon the question as to whether in the computation of the amount of inheritance tax to be paid by legatees et al to the State of Vermont any deduction is to be allowed because of the payment of this estate tax to the federal government, or, upon the basis that such payment is an expense of administration, I have ruled that no deduction can be permitted on account of the payment of the federal estate tax as a tax, and that the payment of the same is not to be allowed as an expense of administration. The law and policy of the State of Vermont plainly support the ruling.

Under the provisions of Section 824 of the Public Statutes which, when in force, permitted a deduction for taxes paid other jurisdictions, no deduction was permitted on account of any inheritance, transfer, succession, legacy or similar tax paid to the United States Government, the statute referred to specifically providing that no such deduction should be allowed. Section 824 P. S. was repealed by No. 60 of the Acts of 1912 so that whatever law formerly existed under which deduction was permitted was by said act last referred to repealed. No deduction on account of any inheritance, transfer, succession, legacy or similar tax lawfully paid another jurisdiction can be allowed or permitted.

The amount to be derived as revenue by a state from its collateral inheritance taxes for its own use cannot be diminished by the law of the United States. The taxing power granted to the federal government is absolute and all embracing as to the persons and property within its jurisdiction, but does not, in my opinion, extend so far that it can be used to embarrass or impede the operations of the State government, "the continued and existing sovereignty of which within their respective spheres, the constitution contemplates and provides for".

At a meeting of the Probate Judges I announced my ruling as above and suggested that in case there was disagreement with the same on the part of any of the Judges or, of persons representing any estate in which the question at issue was involved, I would be glad of an opportunity to take an appeal to the Supreme Court of the State of Vermont.

I am of the opinion that the State of Vermont should enact an affirmative statute providing that no deduction should be permitted or made on account of any inheritance, transfer, succession, legacy or similar tax paid the United States Government or any other jurisdiction.

The Taxation of Municipal Bonds

My attention having been called to the fact that the so-called revenue bill pending in the United States Senate contained a provision for the taxation of municipal bonds to be issued, I sent the following telegram to Senators Dillingham and Page:

"Northfield, Vt., Oct. 8, 1918.

Hon. William P. Dillingham, U. S. S.,
Washington, D. C.

I expect you will oppose the provisions to tax income from bonds of states and their sub-divisions! The proposition is so clearly unconstitutional in view of U. S. Supreme Court decisions and the distinct understanding had between the states and the Federal Government in re ratification of sixteenth amendment that it is unfair, to say the least, to attempt to tax such sources of income. I desire to register my protest against such action on the part of the Federal Government.

(Signed) CHARLES A. PLUMLEY,
Commissioner of Taxes."

I am advised that both of our Senators are in agreement as to the fact that the proposed legislation should not be enacted and that they will do all in their power to prevent it.

Vermont, both as a State and in the interest of its bond issuing municipalities, is decidedly interested. The proposed legislation cannot be other than unconstitutional, if the decisions of the United States Supreme Court construing similar acts are to be taken as determinative of the questions involved.

The Federal Constitution gives a wide range of power in taxation matters to Congress, but there are certain express limitations of that power. While the Constitution confers on Congress the right to declare war and to carry it on, it does not follow "that Congress may completely upset the balance between the Federal and State government or may use its power to destroy state agencies of government. If Congress persists in disregarding the Constitution it is pleasing to know that the Supreme Court may promptly maintain the supremacy of the constitution by annulling such plain violations of it."

Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness

Reference to Section 1031 and 1033 of the General Laws will disclose the fact that a savings bank, savings institution, trust company and savings bank and trust company in arriving at the amount of the franchise tax due the State under the provisions of said sections is permitted to deduct from the average amount of its deposits the "average amount not exceeding ten per cent of its assets invested in United States Government bonds."

The federal government having solicited these savings institutions to invest their assets in Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness, I was inquired of as to the ruling of this department as to whether or not the investment of the assets of these savings institutions in such Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness would authorize such savings institutions under the statute to deduct from the average amount of their deposits the average amount, not exceeding ten per cent of their assets invested in such Treasury Certificates.

To such inquiries I made the following reply:—

"January 24, 1918.

F. H. Curtis, Esq.,
Federal Reserve Bank,
Federal Reserve Agent,
Boston, Mass.

My dear Sir:—In re:—Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness.

The law which I told you I would furnish is found in Sections 1000, 1001 and 1002 of the General Laws, Proposed Revision. (In effect Feb. 1, 1918), being Sections 744, 745 and 746 of the Public Statutes as amended, and is as follows:—

"1000. A domestic savings Bank or savings institution doing business herein shall annually pay a tax to the state, which is hereby assessed at the rate of 7-10th of 1% upon the average amount of its deposits and accumulations, after deducting therefrom the average amount not exceeding 10% of its assets invested in United States government bonds, and the average amount of the assessed valuation of the real estate owned by it.

1001. A domestic trust company or a saving bank and trust company doing business herein shall annually pay a tax to the state, which is hereby assessed at the rate of 7-10th of 1% upon the average amount of its deposits, including money received as trustee under order of court, and deposited in its interest department, after deducting therefrom the average amount, not exceeding 10% of its assets invested in United States government bonds; but when a trust company has been appointed by order of court a trustee, and as such trustee has in its possession stocks or securities liable to state and municipal taxation, such stocks or securities shall be subject to local taxation only, the same as if in the hands of an individual trustee.

1002. The taxes assessed by the two preceding sections shall be paid semi-annually, half in the month of February and the remaining half in the month of August, and shall be based upon the returns for the six months ending with the last day of December and June next preceding. No other tax shall be assessed on such deposits or accumulations in savings banks, nor on such deposits in trust companies, and savings banks and trust companies, nor against the depositors on account thereof."

Last May I had occasion in answering inquiries concerning these treasury certificates to give the matter careful consideration and to study the law in connection therewith. As a result of such consideration and careful study I wrote the banks interested a letter of which the following is a copy:—

"I have your inquiry as to the ruling of this Department as to whether the investment of the assets of your institution in 3% Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness would authorize you under the statute to deduct from the average amount of your deposits and accumulations the average amount, not exceeding 10%, of your assets invested in such Treasury Certificates. The statute specifically and definitely provides that the deduction may be made on the basis of the average amount, not exceeding 10% of assets invested in United States Government Bonds.

The 3% Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness, while an obligation of the government, are not United States Government Bonds. No deduction based on the investment of your assets in the Treasury Certificates referred to can be made under the statute limiting such deduction to an investment in United States Government Bonds.

Could the present emergency in Government finances have been foreseen, the law might well have been amended so as to have allowed the deduction for the average amount of assets invested in Government Bonds, or, Treasury Certificates, not exceeding 10% of the assets, but as it stands, no other or different ruling can be made than that the certificates in question are not United States Government Bonds. and therefore, no deduction can be made based on the ownership thereof."

In order to further define the position of the State concerning the taxability of these certificates of Indebtedness I had occasion somewhat later to write still another letter, a copy of which is as follows:—

“Confirming our conversation concerning the taxability of certain certificates of indebtedness when held by a savings bank and the statement which has been made that these are not taxable, I wish to make my position clear.

The tax which the State of Vermont imposes is a tax upon the franchise or privilege to do business and does not constitute a tax upon the bonds of the United States or these certificates of indebtedness, although the amount of the tax is measured by the amounts of the deposits of the institution, which are invested in such bonds and certificates of indebtedness. The grounds of the distinction are such a franchise tax is a tax, not on the property of the corporation but on the privilege of doing business and the tax would be the same no matter how the funds were invested. The mere fact that the tax is measured by the amount of the deposits is incidental. It is not a tax on the securities of the United States, although a part of the assets are invested in such securities, but is a tax on the franchise or privilege of conducting the banking business.

The State of Vermont does not attempt to levy a tax on these securities. The tax is on the privilege of doing business measured by the amount of the deposits and assets.

A tax which falls on the securities themselves, or the income from them is void; but a tax which does not fall on the securities but which has only incidental reference to property for the determination of its amount, whether that property consists of federal securities or not being an immaterial circumstance, is not a tax on the federal borrowing power and is valid.”

I believe that the sections of the General Laws above referred to should be so amended as to include obligations or evidences of indebtedness of the federal government, such as Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness and War Savings Stamps, and entitle institutions so investing their assets to the deduction now permitted by reason of an investment in Government Bonds.

Telephone Appraisals

Pursuant to the provisions of No. 56 of the Acts of 1912 providing for a physical valuation of telephone properties an appraisal was made as of December 31, 1916. This appraisal shows a total valuation of $3,741,800.00 as against that of 1914, or, an increase of $201,650.00. No appeals were taken from the appraisal as made by the Commissioner of Taxes.

The appraisal for the ensuing biennial period is now in progress and will be completed on or before December 31, 1918, as provided by law.

Railroads

Pursuant to the provisions of No. 51 of the Acts of 1912 an appraisal of the railroad properties was made as of December 31, 1916. No substantial change was made in the valuation as established by the Board of Appeals. An appeal was taken by the Bristol Railroad and the valuation as established by the Board of Appeals was certified to the Commissioner of Taxes at $35,000 as against $75,000, the valuation established by the Commissioner of Taxes. The appraisal for the ensuing biennial period is in progress.

Partnerships

Despite the efforts of the department to keep its record of partnership registrations up to date it is impossible under the existing law to keep a correct record of dissolutions. The law should be so amended as to provide for the imposition of a penalty of five dollars, recoverable in the name of the State, for failure to report a dissolution and file the certificate provided for in the Act, the action to be brought against any or all of the former members of the partnership as the State may elect.

The revenue derived from partnership registrations amounts to approximately nine hundred fifty dollars for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1918.

Listers' Meetings

In 1916 and 1917 listers' meetings were held during the month of March in ten of the fourteen counties, which were attended by a large majority of the listers of the State. During the biennial period I have prepared and distributed additional bulletins with examples illustrating step by step just how an offset must be determined under the law, emphasizing certain instructions to listers and the rules prescribed by law which must be followed in determining to what, if any, offset a taxpayer may be entitled; a bulletin entitled "The Lister and His Work" in which attention is called to the fact that the lister is preeminently the most important official in the whole scheme of general property taxation and that the responsibility for the enforcement of the tax laws which rests upon the lister is not to be underestimated, minimized or circumscribed; a Question and Answer bulletin covering in a concise and abbreviated manner and in the form of questions and answers those subjects about which inquiry is most commonly made by tax officials and taxpayers concerning their respective rights, duties and liabilities under the law; General Tax Law pamphlet covering Chapters 36 to 45, both inclusive, of the General

Laws, published and distributed pursuant to the provisions of Section 749 G. L., and other bulletins containing specific information as to the work of the listers in the making of the grand list and the quadrennial appraisal.

I am now preparing a bulletin, illustrated by examples showing in detail how to proceed under the law to use the books furnished by the State in making up the grand list of the several towns.

The interest manifested at the meetings and the character of questions asked and discussed and the knowledge of the law and of their duties evidenced by the listers when compared with the situation which existed a few years ago would convince even the most skeptical that the educational value of such meetings cannot be overestimated.

The value of educating listers as to their duties under the law is nowhere more clearly demonstrated than by the fact that in 1917 the amount of taxable personal property which was put into the list showed an increase of three million, five hundred thousand dollars, in round numbers, over the amount of taxable property in the list of the previous year, and for the year 1918 there is an increase of over five million dollars worth of taxable property over that in the list for the year 1917. The value of real estate was also increased in 1917 to the extent of two million dollars over 1916, and in 1918 an increase is shown over 1917 amounting to over a million dollars. The grand list for this year shows an increase in the amount of taxable property rising eight million dollars, in round numbers, over the grand list for 1916.

It is true that new property has come into existence but the largest share of the increase in the total valuation is the result of the endeavors of the listers to put the property into the list according to law.

New England Tax Conference

State tax officials and economists of the New England states and New York gathered in Dixville Notch, New Hampshire, October 5th and 6th, 1917, for the Seventh Annual Conference of the New England State Tax Officials' Association, which meeting I attended.

Attention having been called to the fact that the Vermont Collateral Inheritance Tax Law was supplemented at the last session of the legislature by the passage of a graduated direct inheritance tax law and to the fact that the personal property of estates of non-resident decedents has been exempted from legacy and succession taxes, the following resolution was adopted:

"RESOLVED, That we note with satisfaction the incorporation of a provision in the inheritance tax laws of the state of Vermont, exempting the personal property of the estates of non-resident decedents from legacy and succession taxes; and we again urge the adoption of similar provisions of law throughout the New England states in the furtherance of the principle of interstate comity in inheritance taxation."

Creamery Commissioner

By the provisions of Section 5724 the Commissioner of taxes was constituted, ex-officio, Creamery Commissioner and in conjunction with the Secretary of State has discharged the duties of the office.

In agreement with and at the suggestion of the Secretary of State and to the end that the licensing authority of the State may be located in one official so far as may be practicable, it is recommended that the duties performed by the two creamery commissioners should be discharged by one and that that one should be the Commissioner of Taxes.

Peddlers' Licenses

The law relative to the issuing of licenses to peddlers and auctioneers should be so amended as to provide that the licenses should all expire on the same day.

The law should be further amended so as to permit a withdrawal or suspension of the license by the Commissioner of Taxes for cause shown.

For the twelve months period commencing June 1, 1917, and ending June 30, 1919, fees have been collected for peddlers' licenses and turned over to the Treasurer amounting to $3,300.00 as against $2,040.00 received by the State Treasurer from July 1, 1914, to June 30, 1915, and as against $975.00 received by the State Treasurer from July 1, 1915, to June 30, 1916, as revenue from peddlers' license fees, showing an increase for the last fiscal year over the one immediately preceding amounting to $2,325.00 and an increase of $1,260.00 over the fiscal year ending June 30, 1915.

The revenue derived from auctioneers' license fees for the year ending June 30, 1918, amounts to seven hundred ten dollars as against one hundred forty-four dollars for the year ending June 30, 1916, and as against five hundred fifty-two dollars for the year ending June 30, 1915, as shown by the Treasurer's report, showing an increase amounting to five hundred sixty-six dollars over the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916, and an increase of one hundred fifty-eight dollars over the year ending June 30, 1918.

Stock in Domestic Corporations

I call attention to the recommendation made on page fourteen of my biennial report for the two years ending June 30, 1916, in respect to the appraisal and establishing for the purposes of local taxation of the fair value of the stock in the domestic manufacturing, mercantile and trading corporations. As the law now stands, listers are unable to obtain necessary information to enable them to fix the fair value of shares of stock in domestic corporations for taxation purposes. Inequality and lack of uniformity of valuation in the different towns throughout the State are necessary resultants.

Annual License Taxes

By the provisions of Section 1038 G. L., corporations subject to the payment of an annual license tax and having a capital stock of fifty thousand dollars, or less, are assessed an annual license tax of ten dollars, and for each fifty thousand dollars, or fractional part thereof of capital stock or deposit in excess of fifty thousand dollars, five dollars, with a limitation that no annual license tax shall exceed fifty dollars.

The following tabulation in terms of thousands shows the number of corporations, the amount of capital stock and the tax paid by each under the present law:

I suggest that the law establishing the maximum tax at fifty dollars be amended by striking out the word "fifty" and inserting the words "one hundred", so that the last sentence in Section 1038 shall read "but no annual license tax, except as otherwise provided in this chapter, shall exceed one hundred dollars".

The effect of this proposed amendment is to add five dollars for each fifty thousand dollars of capital stock above fifty thousand until the capital stock amounts to $900,000. The proposed change will not affect any corporation having capital stock not in excess of four hundred fifty thousand dollars; corporations having capital stock of from four hundred fifty-one thousand to five hundred thousand will pay a tax of fifty-five dollars instead of a tax of fifty dollars; corporations having a capital stock of from five hundred-one thousand to five hundred fifty thousand will pay a tax of sixty dollars instead of fifty dollars; corporations having a capital stock of five hundred fifty-one thousand to six hundred thousand will pay a tax of sixty-five dollars instead of fifty dollars; corporations having a capital stock of six hundred-one thousand to six hundred fifty thousand will pay a tax of seventy dollars instead of fifty dollars, and so on as indicated in terms of thousands by the table until corporations having a capital stock in excess of $900,000 is reached.

The increase is not excessive. It does not affect smaller corporations. The tax to be paid under the proposed law is nothing but a fair return to the State of Vermont for the benefits received from and the protection accorded to the corporation by the laws of the State.

It is estimated that the proposed amendment will produce from ten to eleven thousand dollars additional revenue.

Centralized Supervision of Tax Collectors

The large number of inquiries made by constables, collectors of taxes and town officials, as to how to proceed under the law to collect delinquent taxes led me to make an investigation in 1917 as to the amount of delinquent taxes due the several towns in the State as of March 1, 1917. I was astounded at the situation which existed. At listers' meetings I went outside the authority conferred on me by law to the extent of calling attention to the situation and recommending that the listers take the matter up at once with the selectmen of their respective towns.

In the year 1918 I addressed an inquiry to the clerks of the respective towns, villages and fire districts as to the amount of taxes, delinquent and outstanding, due the several municipalities as of March 1, 1916, 1917 and 1918. Returns from all but thirty towns have been received and compiled. The figures disclose that for the three years above mentioned the average amount of uncollected and delinquent taxes due all towns as of March first of the respective years above mentioned, is two hundred four thousand, five hundred sixty-nine dollars, and that as to villages and fire districts the average amount is twenty-five thousand, three hundred eighty-five dollars, or a total of two hundred thirty thousand dollars. It goes without saying that such a situation should not be permitted to continue to exist and that some remedy should be devised to meet and remedy it at once.

I am satisfied that a major portion of these taxes are collectible. If the failure to attempt collection is due to some defect or irregularity in the making of the grand list, then, this defect or irregularity should be remedied, and can be. If the failure to collect is due to inefficiency or slack business methods, such a situation is susceptible of being corrected and should be attended to forthwith. That the situation is such as to demand attention and require careful consideration cannot be gainsaid.

While some other or better plan may be evolved, I am of the opinion that the situation could be decidedly improved by amendments to the present law which would, without going into details, authorize the Commissioner of Taxes to supervise the collection of these taxes by local officials; to hold meetings for instructions for tax collectors as to their duties, and to have certain other authority in the premises.

I have gone outside of the duties imposed upon me by law and in several cases have undertaken to advise tax collectors and towns as to how to proceed in these matters. In almost all of such cases a decided improvement has been shown in the matter of the reduction of the amount of taxes due the town.

It should be borne in mind that this recommendation is made as to the supervision of delinquent taxes only and has to do with the supervision of the collection of such taxes by the officials to whom delinquent taxes are turned over by the treasurers or collectors of taxes to the constable for collection.

No good reason exists why these delinquent taxes should be carried as assets from year to year and the town obliged to borrow money to meet current indebtedness. A twelve months period ought to be long enough in which to either collect the tax, institute legal procedure for its collection, or, procure an abatement thereof. The collector of delinquent taxes is now required to pay over all taxes in his hands at the end of every two months, or oftener upon the demand of the selectmen and the treasurer named in the warrant. The law might be amended to require him to report the amount of such payment and the balance of uncollected taxes in his hands to the Commissioner of Taxes; if it is made to appear that the collector is delinquent or unlawfully neglects to pay over a tax paid to him that upon the complaint of the Commissioner of Taxes, the treasurer, selectmen, trustees, committees or other persons authorized to receive the tax SHALL cite him to appear before a justice residing in an adjoining town to show cause why an extent should not be issued against him; the Commissioner of Taxes might be directed to report to the legislature the amount of delinquent and uncollected taxes due the several towns together with such action as has been taken by him in the premises.

The slate should be clean on or before February first of the second calendar year after the taxes are turned over to the collector either through the collection of the tax, the institution of legal procedure looking towards their collection, or, their abatement.

An act in the amendment of a law which will centralize the supervision of the collection of these taxes along lines above suggested, not interfering with the prerogatives of the several towns, will produce results. The present situation is indefensible.

Power Plants and Transmission Lines

If the policy of the State relative to the local taxation of power plants and transmission lines is to be continued, and if the attitude of the legislature of 1917 is indicative of the sentiment of the State, I assume that it will be continued, then, in the interest of equality and uniformity all power plants and transmission lines not included in the provisions of Section 993 should be appraised by the Commissioner of Taxes, subject to the right of appeal to the Board of Appeals as in the case of railroads and telephones and the final valuation should be certified to the several towns in which such property is located, such valuation to be the value of the property so situated for taxation purposes. As the law now stands the same transmission line is under-valued in one town and over-valued in another with a resulting lack of uniformity. This also applies to power plants of similar character and extent situated in different parts of the State. The appraisal of all these plants and lines should be made as is the appraisal of telephones and railroad properties.

Sequestered Lands

Through inadvertence and by mistake, the legislature of 1912, by its Act No. 42 and in Section 41 thereof, repealed Section 534 of the Public Statutes, which related to the duty of listers as to the setting in the list apart from the taxable real estate of lands sequestered for public, pious or charitable uses, paying an annual rent from which it followed that in the quadrennial appraisal made in 1914, the lands above referred to were not listed at all. The law has been amended.

Upon investigation I have ascertained that in a large number of the towns there is now no proper record of these lands to which the listers have easy or in some cases any access, or any record as to the amount of rent which should be paid.

It is difficult to estimate the amount of money which the towns are losing annually by reason of the situation which obtains. That it runs into a considerable sum, probably not less than one thousand dollars and perhaps into thousands is a safe assertion. The condition is such in a great many towns, and has so long existed that I am satisfied the only way the matter will ever be straightened out is for the State to take it in hand.

While some other or better plan might be evolved, it would seem that the Commissioner of Taxes might be authorized to make the necessary investigation, compile a list of the original grants, obtain other and necessary data and certify the same to the town clerks for the use of the towns. This would involve some expense, possible a thousand dollars, but as against the present and prospective loss of revenue by the towns growing out of the present situation it would seem that now is the time to check this continuing loss and that such an expenditure of money would be justified.

Taxation of Automobiles

Under the existing law automobiles and motor vehicles are exempted from taxation under the theory that the registration fee which the owner is required to pay is paid in lieu of taxes.

My attention has been repeatedly called to the fact that by reason of the non-registration of an automobile the owner thereof has paid no fee, and this class of property has therefore escaped taxation.

Thousands of dollars worth of taxable property is not reached under the existing law and the revenue of the State can be very substantially increased by amending the statute so that ownership of this class of property as of other classes of property, not the operation or use to which it is put, shall determine its taxability.

Intoxicating Liquor

The legislature of 1917 saw fit to impose upon the Commissioner of Taxes the duty and responsibility of transmitting to local licensees the names of persons to whom it was against the law for such licensee to sell liquor. No provision was made by the legislature covering the expense necessarily involved in carrying out the provisions of the act, the requirements of which involve and entail additional clerical assistance, matters of detail and a very large increase in the expense account of the department in so far as the matter of postage, at least, is concerned.

While the elimination of second class license places has materially reduced the amount of work required of the department assuming that eight thousand dollars is a fair statement of the expense annually involved under the former law, the State has been saved approximately seven thousand dollars by the transfer of the work to this department. Certain minor amendments can be made, and should be made, covering the nature, form and time for making reports by courts in which the convictions are had and made and the form of notice to be sent to the licensees which will make the law more effective, the proposed amendments to be submitted to the legislature.

The revenue derived from fourth class liquor license fees is five thousand, three hundred sixty-six dollars as against approximately twelve thousand dollars for the prior fiscal year.

General Tax Law

No tax law has ever been, or ever will be framed which will satisfy everybody or be absolutely just. Perfect equality, justice and uniformity in taxation is an iridescent dream—it is a goal towards which we strive but to which, since we are human, we shall never absolutely attain.

The general property tax is the only system of taxation with which our Vermont taxpayers are at all familiar, and this department has undertaken to educate the public as to the tax laws and to instruct the listers and other officials having to do with the administration of the law as to their duties in the premises to the end that every taxpayer may have a square deal under the law. I take it that it would be unwise to recommend or to attempt to make any radical or sweeping changes in the General Tax law at the coming session of the Legislature or during the continuance of the war. Certain minor amendments, however, should be made in order that certain defects may be remedied and that the existing law may be more efficiently and effectively administered. Any general tax reform must commence at the root of the difficulty. The lister is the most important official in the whole scheme of general property taxation. It matters not what system of taxation is in force or under what tax law we are obliged to live and work, equality and justice in taxation depend primarily, and very largely, upon the initial assessment, and so long as the men upon whom rests the responsibility of making the initial assessment are underpaid, and cannot afford to do the work or to spend the necessary time to learn the law or acquire a knowledge of their duties, the law is not, and will not be administered as it should be. Every effort to better our tax system should be concentrated upon the lister and his work, and each town should have a trained and efficient board of listers who are paid a wage commensurate with the work which they do and the responsibility which they assume.

The situation as to the valuation of property in different towns in order to escape the payment of their proportion of state school and state highway taxes, has somewhat improved in the last few years by reason of the changes in the laws relating to the maintenance of schools and highways. Such under-valuation still exists, however, to some extent. While the experience which Vermont had in days gone by with its Boards of Equalization was such, if I am correctly informed, as to suggest that we would never return to that method, which, while theoretically equalizing the amount of taxes paid to the State and county, was in fact no equalization and furnished little, if any, relief to taxpayers in general, the situation can be corrected by authorizing the Commissioner of Taxes, not only to supervise local assessments, but to order re-assessments to be made under circumstances which warrant the making of such re-assessments. The experience which New Hampshire has had, under its present law covering the matter of re-assessment, has been, I am informed, very satisfactory, not so much by reason of the use of the power conferred upon the Tax Commission as from the fact of the "mere existence" of such power.

Some one has said that the three principal defects in our system of taxation are admitted to be the under-valuation of taxable property, inequality in appraisals and the escape of a large amount of personal property from taxation by concealment or evasion. That the situation in respect to the three defects above mentioned is susceptible of being improved, or of being overcome to a large extent by the education of the public as to its rights and duties is almost universally acknowledged by authorities on tax matters who have had practical experience in the administration of tax laws.

The continuance in office of efficient boards of listers supervised by a central authority in which is lodged the right of re-assessment will overcome to a large extent the undervaluation of taxable property and the inequality in assessment which are complained of; establishing the value of stock and certifying the valuation to the listers, together with the certifying of the names of stockholders in corporations doing business in this state, overcomes to a considerable extent the defect complained of as to the escape of personal property from taxation by concealment or evasion.

Many a tax law which is perfect in theory falls flat in practice by reason of the fact that in enacting the law, the fact was not taken into consideration that you cannot legislate to make a man honest.

The necessary changes to permit of and provide for a more effective administration of the existing law can very easily be incorporated into the present law without any sweeping or radical changes therein, and along the lines above suggested.

Taxes and Bonds

We are confronted by a situation growing out of the financing of the war which requires us to raise more revenue during the ensuing biennial period, at least, than ever before in the history of the State. In the last analysis there are but two ways to raise the money to meet our obligations, present and prospective, namely, by taxation, and the issue of bonds. As has been well said, there is no magical proportion covering the use of the two sources of revenue. We must raise as much as we can by taxation and then borrow the rest. It follows that the more we can raise by taxation the less we will have to use our credit and the stronger will be our financial condition.

In my judgment this is no time for reckless experiments in taxation, or, radical or sweeping changes with resultant confusion in tax laws. When we ascertain how much money will be necessary for us to raise, we can determine as a matter of governmental policy and sound judgment how much of the necessary amount can be raised by taxation without seriously interfering with or strangling essential and normal business or disturbing or jeopardizing the sources of revenue or the financing of the State's business for future years. With the grand list of the State and the amount of revenue heretofore derived from the taxation of corporations, inheritance taxes, and other sources all before us as a base, we can establish a rate which will produce such an amount of revenue as we determine can safely and wisely be produced by taxation. We must borrow the rest.

Under the present law, the average rate for the year 1917, was 215.6 cents per dollar of Grand List, and in 1918, it was 236 cents per dollar of Grand List.

In 1915, the average tax rate was $1.92, and in 1916, it was $2.02.

The average tax rate for the last biennial period, it will be noted, is 225.8 cents per dollar of Grand List, as against an average of 197.2 cents per dollar of Grand List, for the prior biennial period.

In this connection it should be noted that the state tax of five cents for the prior biennial period, and the state tax of forty cents for the last biennial period are to be taken into consideration in making the comparison of the average rates for the biennial periods.

For the year 1918, the Grand List of the State for the purposes of taxation totals $2,581,415.97, as against $2,530,860.40 for 1917, or an increase of $50,555.57.

The appraised value of the real estate in Vermont for 1918, is $173,380,861.06, as against $172,324,761.87 for 1917, or an increase of $1,056,099.19.

Personal property as appraised for 1918, amounts to $66,059,545.24, as against $61,154,885.33 for 1917, an increase of $4,904,659.91.

The amount of taxable polls for 1918 is $187,012.00, as against $196,064.00, for 1917, a decrease of $9,052.00.

The amount of deductions for debts owing for 1918 amounts to $3,042,547.13, as against $3,203,626.26, for 1917, a decrease of $161,079.13.

The five per cent loans claimed exempt reported by taxpayers to the listers, and eventually to this department amounted to $2,368,816.39 in 1918, and in 1917, to $2,540,006.41, a decrease for the last year amounting to $171,190.02.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES A. PLUMLEY,
Commissioner of Taxes.

October 20, 1918.
